It turned out that his schedule did not permit him to accept, but he told us he had been to Appomattox while a Senator and displayed a rare knowledge of Civil War history. I mention it now because of the seven on that local committee, only three are living: Rep. Watt Abbitt, Leonard Anderson and Darkleaf. The others are: David Robertson, Jim Lucado, J. C. Care and Feeding of Animals Still Popular With 4-H'ers

SPECIAL - 4-H is expanding into urban and suburban areas and developing new programs to meet the challenges of the seventies. Still, one of the most popular and important programs remains animal raising.

One out of every six 4-H boys and girls are enrolled in one or more different programs involving the breeding and marketing of animals.

The most popular of the 4-H animal programs is the national 4-H horse program, sponsored by TOP FORM Products Dept., Merck & Co., Inc. Over 255,000 young people experience the satisfaction of learning to train and ride a horse, as well as learning all aspects of good horsemanship.

One of the friendliest and most useful animals to man is the cow. 4-H'ers in the national 4-H dairy program, not only learn that, but also how important good care and proper management of cows is to the dairy industry. Over 85,000 4-H'ers are enrolled in the program, supervised by the Cooperative Extension Service and sponsored by Associated Milk Producers, Inc. These young dairy producers are becoming aware of the scope and importance of the dairy industry today, by learning the principles of ownership and care of dairy animals, merchandising, and the importance of having clean dairy facilities.

To 66,000 4-H boys and girls, shepherds aren't men and women referred to in history books. These young people know that shepherds exist in the 70's because they raise and manage their own flocks in the national 4-H sheep program, sponsored by Wilson & Co., and Wilson-Certified Foods, Inc.

Besides the satisfaction of raising their own livestock, 4-H'ers in these three programs are eligible for national recognition.

Six winners in the 4-H dairy program receive $700 scholarships from Associated Milk Producers, Inc. State winners in the program are honored at a special banquet, given by the donor, at the National 4-H Congress in Chicago, Nov 26-30.

TOP FORM Products Dept., Merck & Co., Inc. sponsors expense-paid trips to the 4-H Congress and $700 scholarships to six national winners in the 4-H horse program.

One winner, from each state, in the 4-H sheep program receives a $50 U.S. Savings Bond. Wilson & Co., Inc., and its three subsidiaries, provides expense-paid trips to the National 4-H Congress and $700 scholarships to six national winners in the program.

For more information of 4-H programs for dairy animals, horses and sheep, contact the county extension office.

The Pastor Speaks

RELEASING GOD'S POWER

"The earnest, heartfelt, continued prayer of a righteous man makes tremendous power available, dynamic in its working." (James 5:16b Amplified Bible)

E.M. Bounds in his book, Power of Prayer, says, "What the church needs today is not more machinery or better, not new organizations or more novel methods, but men whom the Holy Ghost can use . . . men of prayer, men mighty in prayer. The Holy Ghost does not flow through methods, but through men. He does not come on machinery, but on men. He does not anoint plans, but men . . . men of prayer." My personal opinion is that God will not bless plans, machinery, or anything else unless his power is upon the man who is doing the praying.

Prayer is the divinely devised means of releasing his heavenly powers upon the earth! The results will be phenomenal. The spiritual tone of our churches and our city will deepen. People will begin to get saved in a spontaneous way, church programs will be undergirded with a power not known before. People around the world will be blessed because people begin to believe in the anointing of prayer. Andrew Murray said, "God works though the prayers of his people." All of these things will happen and much, much more through prayer, as The Ability of God is Released.

MISS LILLEY'S 4-H Club Met

Our 4th 4-H meeting was held in Miss Lilley's homeroom on December 18, 1972. We talked about our public speaking contest and got a sheet to look over. We talked about who would get a dog to keep. We got sheets about planting seedlings. We could plant them on a land that was vacant.

The Sunday School Lesson

HERBERT C. BRADSHAW
P. O. Box 1833

Comment on the International Sunday School lesson for December 31, 1972 Israel in God's Hands

Scripture: Jeremiah 18:1-11; 32:1-25

Yet, O Lord, thou art our Father; we are the clay, and thou art our potter; we are all the work of thy hand. Isaiah 64:8

Exact analogies of spiritual truths in the physical world are hard to come by, but incidents and happenings do provide revealing insights into Divine purpose and into God's ways. Jeremiah's observation of the potter at work and the lesson he learned from it provide an example, as does his purchase of a tract of land when Jerusalem was on the verge of capture and destruction.

No doubt the prophet had often seen potters molding vessels of clay. But one visit to a potter's house transformed a commonplace experience into a revelation of Divine truth, which gave not only Jeremiah but all who have read his book in the succeeding centuries profound and revealing insight into God's way and word.

When Jeremiah saw the potter take a glob of clay, which did not mold into the vessel he wanted to make of it, and remold it, the prophet applied it to God's dealing with Judah: Judah had not turned out as God intended, but God would "rework" His chosen people and still use them for His purpose. Although man may go contrary to God's will and through evil prevent the accomplishment of good, he does not over the long scope of human affairs frustrate the will of God. "God uses the wrath of men to serve Him," runs the adage, the truth of which history demonstrates. If Judah in one form did not carry out God's purpose for this people, it would in another, as the Divine Potter remolds and reshapes the marred clay of sinful humanity.

In this message of hope, Jeremiah reveals another characteristic of the Divine operation in human history. God and His decrees are not inflexible, as were the laws of the Medes and Persians. God adapts His decrees and their operation to the response of people to Him: although He has pronounced judgment upon a people for their sin, if they repent and turn from it in commitment to Him, He will repent of the evil that I intended to do to it," as He said to Jeremiah. The term repent in this context means that God will forgive the penitent sinner and redeem him from the destruction which is the consequence of sin. In the same way, although God has promised to bless a nation - to build and plant it" - He will visit judgment upon it if it disregards Him and does evil.

For God to work in this way does not mean that He is fickle and uncertain; rather it means that God is a totally moral being Who cannot tolerate evil but Who in perfect love redeems the penitent sinner. God is completely dependable both in His love and in His judgment. Truly, "in His will is our hope."

In another message designed to inspire hope in the darkest period in Judah's history,God instructed Jeremiah to buy a tract of land belonging to his ancestral heritage which his cousin wished to sell, although by that time it was certain that the Babylonians would capture Jerusalem. It was likely that the land belonging to the people of Judah would be confiscated by the conquerors and used for their purposes. Yet in going through with the purchase, it carrying out his

Treat For Cattle Lice

Sam Conner, James Ford, and Dr. Jim Roberts, Extension Entomologist, look over a group of cattle that have just been treated for cattle lice.

Lice can be a serious pest, especially on young cattle. Lice treatment was just one of several jobs that was being done on this day. Other jobs include ear tagging, vaccination and castration.
